A BALL CAN CHANGE THE WORLD

Mel Young, President and co-Founder Homeless World Cup

"Kinetic 5s is a phenomenal opportunity for you and your colleagues to unite and show the world the true power that football has to change lives. Play your part and help us to reach our goal to end homelessness around the globe. Are you in?"

"UEFA have partnered the Homeless World Cup since 2003. We share its vision to help homeless people through football."

UEFA President, Michel Platini

Nathan Bowen, Team England

Nathan was homeless before he represented England at the Copenhagen 2007 Homeless World Cup. He progressed quickly after the tournament and was able to complete his coaching qualifications. Nathan now lives in his own house and is a coach with Brighton and Hove Albion Football Club. He says: "When you go on the pitch you play sport and you are even. This is your chance to prove to everybody that you're worth something."

Homkant, Team India

Homkant was forced to leave home due to poor economic conditions. After finding street soccer he was successful in the trials to represent his country in Melbourne 2008 Homeless World Cup. He is now an inspirational coach who works with one of the Homeless World Cup development projects helping others follow in his footsteps.

THE HOMELESS WORLD CUP

The Homeless World Cup is a global organisation that uses football to inspire the homeless and the socially excluded to change their own lives. Along with partners Nike Inc & UEFA the Homeless World Cup provides a combination of financial and practical year-round development support to 70+ projects around the globe and across all continents.

The climax of this hard work comes in the form of the hotly anticipated annual tournament. This year 64 teams will arrive in Paris to contest the 9th edition of the Homeless World Cup.
